

Monitor Chautauqua Is Over. Is Well Appreciated Many Sign Guarantee For Next Year

It is with relief, and yet with a feeling of regret, that we see once more the Chautauqua depart from Monitor?

This seasons programme has been criticised very closely, and as far as the consensus of opinion goes, it seems to be generally admitted that the entertainments provided this year as in advance of any seen here before.

It is hardly necessary for us to review the programme in view of the fact that all our readers must have been there, but for the benefit of those who were not so fortunate, we must state they surely missed a treat. The Newell Concert Company brought to us a tenor singer whose equal will not be heard here again unless he comes back. Dr. Parker Miles, Impressionist is a man with a rare gift and his inimitable eloquence was fully appreciated by all who heard him. The Serbian Tambouritka Orchestra were just as good as they were last year and their rendition of popular music and selections from opera left nothing to be desired. Capt. Lucie, the lecturer for the second day is a man that has a thorough grasp of his subject. It is to be regretted that the final programme, The Garner Jubilee Singers did not take a little more care in preparing their programme. It is a fact that our own little Choir could render their hymns as well as well as our own with far better effect. The sopranos effort in "Guañee River" was a very poor number.

Taken all round though, the three days entertainments were well worth the price of admission, and then some.

Taken all round though, the three days entertainments were well worth the price of admission, and then some.

The local Chautauqua committee take this opportunity of thanking Miss Hartsell [travelling superintendent] Miss Carroll and Mr. Veniot who, though entirely disinterested as far as the guarantee was concerned spent considerable time and trouble in working for the sale of season tickets. Thanks are also extended to others who lent their cars as well as their services, in order that the district might be well canvassed.

We take pleasure in announcing that Chautauqua has been signed for next year also, and that sufficient tickets have already been spoken for to guarantee the guarantee.

Mr. Fred Connell is a visitor in town these days.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. J. Aug. Hayes, Mr. V. S. Kay of Kilmuir officiated at the organ in St. Laurence Church last Sunday.

According to leading articles in several of our Western dailies the Social Service League, pious footers, Presbyterians and others are raising a considerable yell about "the will of the people" as expressed in the vote on October 25th. We can't help wondering though, if they would have taken the same trouble and expense to enforce the "will of the people" if the vote had gone the other way. In that instance we suppose it would NOT have been the "will of the people."

On Saturday Oct. 23rd, Mr. Robert L. Walker and Miss Myrtle E. Geary, were united in marriage at Grace Maize, Saskatoon, by the Rev. C. W. Brown.

Last Monday, during the storm, the team of Mr. Wheeler took fright and bolted, and crashed into the rig of Mr. Adkins on Main Street. Fortunately, the street was almost deserted at the time, so no one was hurt. Mr. Adkins' buggy was over turned, and a strap or two broken, but no other damage resulted.

BASKET SOCIAL AT HILLANVALE

Next Friday, the 12th, there is to be a Basket Social in the Schoolroom at Hillanvale. Proceeds are to be devoted to the Organ Fund. Everybody welcome.

Boys' Work to be a Big Feature at Religious Education Conference Monitor, November 25th and 26th.

These are the days of great and growing interest in boy life and boys' work. Churches, Rotary and Kiwanis, Chambers of Commerce and other organizations have caught a new vision of the importance and possibilities of the boys. It is a significant and encouraging fact that it is the men's clubs which are concerning themselves about the programs of boys' work being carried on in their communities.

The Province of Alberta is fortunate in having recently secured the services of Wallace Forgie, one of the most experienced boys' work men in Canada, as the Secretary of The Boys' Work Board. Mr. Forgie gained his experience in the Y. M. C. A., having been Boys' Work Secretary of the Ottawa and Toronto Central Associations and Travelling Secretary in the Ontario and Quebec field. He is now giving his entire time to the promotion of boys' work in church and community organizations.

At the sessions of the Religious Education Conference, to be held at Monitor, November 25th-26th, boys' work will be given a large place. The various phases of this important subject will be presented and discussed. A special Conference of leaders will be held at a supper, Thursday evening, November 25th.

Every mens organization should be represented and all leaders of boys classes should plan to attend this important conference in order to learn of the programs being followed and the progress being made in this important field. The Provincial leader is anxious to meet every man who is interested in boys' work and is ready to make his services available in any community where men are facing their obligation toward growing boy life.

The sessions of the Conference will deal with work for Children in the Beginners, Primary and Junior Departments of the Sunday School work for Boys and Girls, and Young peoples and Adult Department work. All interested in the highest welfare of the young are urged to attend.

Shadow Social At Minor

A Shadow Social will be held at the Minor School, nine (9) miles south of Monitor, Nov. 23 at 8.30 p.m. Everybody welcome. Ladies bring lunch for two. Proceeds to be used to purchase an organ for school.

Local Happenings

During the past few weeks, the Department of Agriculture has received a number of requests for information as to where brood sows may be secured.

It is evident that there will be a demand throughout the fall. Many farmers during the past two years have sold entirely out of their breeding stock of sows and now that grain has reduced somewhat in price, some of these men are anxious to again become established in the business but find no local supply from which to secure a start. The matter was discussed by the Live Stock Commissioner of the Department of Agriculture, the Markets Representative of the Dominion Government and with the commission firms at the Edmonton and Calgary Stock Yards. It is learned that a considerable number of good brood sows are now passing through the stock yards and are being bought by the packers for slaughter.

Arrangements have been made with the Live Stock Exchanges at these yards to fill orders for brood sows. The Department will place a representative in the yards, to see that the farmers' interests are looked after. Farmers are advised to procure sows from the central yards. Those wishing to purchase from the stock yards should communicate the secretary of the Edmonton Live Stock Exchange, Ltd., Stock Yards, Edmonton or Calgary Live Stock Exchange, Alberta Stock Yards, Calgary, forwarding $15 deposit per sow with the order, the balance to be paid on delivery. This order will be turned over to a commission firm at the Stock Yards and as good as possible shipped on these orders.

Sound Financing All Round

The Great War brought about many developments and revealed many hitherto unsuspected powers in Canada. This Dominion was discovered as being capable of wielding a military strength and prowess undreamed of by itself or any other people. It demonstrated its ability to produce munitions of war on a scale of great magnitude. Even under adverse conditions, its productive capacity in all directions was shown to be almost beyond measure when all its people willed to sacrifice, serve and work.

But probably Canada's most unexpected and amazing strength was revealed in its ability to finance itself even under the enormous obligations and expenditures which war forced upon it. Before the war, Canada was a borrowing nation, and a borrowing nation on a large scale. The idea of Canada raising from among its own people the money necessary to carry on government and the large expenditures required for development purposes of a national character never suggested itself to the Canadian people. Federal and Provincial Governments, municipalities and large corporations were content to float their bonds and sell their debentures in Great Britain and the United States.

The Great War changed all this. At the outset, Canada borrowed from Great Britain; later it borrowed from the United States. During the last three years of the war, however, Canadians themselves supplied their Government with all the money it required and a sufficient amount over and above its requirements to enable it to grant credits to Great Britain and other countries. Year after year the Canadian people furnished the Dominion Government with sums far in excess of the total of Canada's national debt before the war.

This not only contributed greatly to Canada's strength during the war, but since. Tens of millions of dollars which otherwise would have been drained out of the Dominion in interest payments have been distributed among our own people. The cutting of interest bearing coupons has become a commonplace in homes all over the country.

What was proven to be good policy for the Dominion as a whole is being recognized throughout the Prairie Provinces of Canada as good policy for this western country; hence we find that the Governments of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta have all devised schemes whereby those of their people who have money to invest may lend it to their respective Governments on gilt-edged security and these Governments re-lend it to those of their people who are in need of money for development and productive purposes within the Province. As a result, not only is Western money kept in the West, and interest payments thereon earned by Western people, but the money is put to work in the West to further its development and increase its prosperity. And Governments are placed in funds without being obliged to go solely to Eastern and to foreign markets and remit large sums in interest payments to points outside the Province.

Nor is this healthy development, this adding of financial strength and independence to the West, being confined to Provincial Governments. Municipalities are appealing to their own citizens and ratepayers to become the holders of municipal debentures. A gratifying measure of success is attending these efforts—Regina being a notable example where several municipal bond issues have been fully subscribed for by its own citizens.

As a matter of historical fact, even before the Dominion Government adopted the policy of floating popular Victory Loans, the Government of Saskatchewan had inaugurated the policy of going to its own people to provide the money necessary to carry through its Farm Loans plan, and in its appeal upwards of one million dollars was received. Then the Dominion Victory Loans were inaugurated and the Saskatchewan Government withdrew its appeal and held it in abeyance so as not to conflict with the war finance programme of the Dominion. With the war over, and the necessity for Victory Loan campaigns removed, Saskatchewan is again energetically pushing the sale of Farm Loan debentures to its own people.

It is good policy for a citizen to buy the bonds of his own Province or municipality. Unlike the big financial corporations, it is not a money-making venture on the part of these public bodies, nor is the money merged in the intricate and costly financial system of the whole country and the world. The system is administered at cost—the lender receiving the highest possible interest rate and the borrower securing his loan at the lowest possible cost.

Through this simple machinery the West is being made more and more economically independent of the East and the big financial corporations, its money is being kept at home, and it is actively at work promoting the further development of the country and increasing the prosperity of all.

Choosing Coal by The Microscope

Series of Microscopic Tests By Which Various Coals Are Classified.

The selection of the particular coal to give the best results for certain purposes has always been an important matter for the engineer. Today, with the enhanced cost of coal, it has become a vital problem. Hitherto it has been the custom to rely upon open chemical compositions and tests of the heat value of the coal, but the engineer of a leading firm which buys about a quarter of a million tons of coal every year for various uses, confirms the suspicion that something more is needed before the most economical coal in each case can be determined. He has worked out a series of microscopic tests by which various coals are classified, each class being most efficient for steam raising, or gas production, or some other particular service. The method adopted is to grind the surface of a small sample of coal exceedingly smooth, fix it by the smooth surface to a piece of glass and grind away the remainder until a slice thin enough to transmit light remains on the glass. When examined under the microscope this slice reveals the inner structure of the coal. The behavior of the coal when fixed corresponds to its structure, which thus provides an index to the use which ought to be made of the coal. The same investigator has found that very uniform results are given by samples from the one seam of coal, so that one or two tests are sufficient to determine the qualities of the seam. If this method is developed it will become possible to order coals according to an exact specification, much as is now done with special steels and alloys.

Road Engineering Progress

Britain Still Maintains Great Interest in Road Improvements.

In view of the rapid development of road traffic in Great Britain an inspection has been carried out over more than one thousand miles of the principal roads, and careful examination made of the experimental lengths which have been laid on various novel systems of construction. It is anticipated that a sum of at least ten million pounds sterling will be spent within the near future on road making and road improvements. British roads have enjoyed the reputation of being the best, all-round, in the world, and there is every sign that the new methods devised by British road engineers to enable road surfaces to withstand heavy motor traffic will maintain that reputation.

Labor Objects to Tax

Luxury Tax on Some Things Has Led to Unemployment.

Not the manufacturers themselves, but the ranks of organized labor are now endeavoring to secure the removal of the luxury tax on certain kinds of production, basing their action upon the ground that its imposition has led to a great deal of unemployment.

The delegation pointed out that more than 650 men employed in these trades were at present out of employment in Toronto, and stated that the manufacturers had given as their reason for shortened production of these articles of trade that the people would not buy them with the added cost due to the imposition of the luxury tax.

STOCK YARDS NOTES

Last Tuesday was a scene of great activity at the local Stockyards. When Messrs W. H. Poynter and Sons shipped 8 cars of cattle to Chicago, Messrs Marshman and Walker shipped 1 car to Winnipeg, and H. P. Botting also shipped a carload to Chicago.

The more of these scenes we visit, the more we are impressed with the absolutely inadequate dimensions of our stockyards here. It is a fact that lots more business would come into town in this line, if we only had a stockyard where one could keep a bunch of cattle really worth while. The matter has been taken up once or twice by the Board of Trade, but apparently seems to have died a natural death.

He sat down on a stool and started to unlace his moccasins, whistling an old tune beneath his breath. Boy arose and, walking to the window, gazed out across his kingdom. An owl was hooting from a distant thicket. Down in the deep shadow a fox called, and from the sheep-coral came the soft bleating of a late lamb. The chickens in the coop stirred and voiced their uneasiness. Outside on a well-worn spot a dog stretched himself, arose and sniffed the breeze, then assumed his former position.

Boy turned to the long cupboard near the hearth. "Seems I can't be myself these days," he said. "I forgot that you might be hungry after your tramp about to-night. Set up, Bill, and have a bit of turkey."

He placed the carcass of a cold fowl on the table, and from the milk-house outside fetched bread and butter. Paisley drew his stool up to the table.

"Ain't you eatin'?" he asked. "Not hungry," answered Boy. "Seems I ain't like anythin' I used to be any more. All day long I've been thinkin' about a lot of no-count things that happened years ago. Little things I've done and seen here in the bush. How I tramped with Davey 'cross the ridges and down through the wild blackberry patches. Why, Bill, it seems, some nights, when I'm lyin' awake, that I can see everything just as plain as I saw it then. Last night I was listenin' to the rushes sweepin' against my skull. My oar was poked in a bog and my boat-painted was tied to it. I was trollin' with a live minnie, and the creek was a clear bottle-green. The pond-lily roots lay there six feet below me, and the bass swam in and out—you know they did before the mill was up, Bill?"

Paisley nodded and looked back over his shoulder. His mouth was full of turkey and bread. "And as they'll do again," he asserted in muffled tones of conviction, "I was gettin' strikes and playin' bass," smiled Boy; "playin' and landin' 'em and enjoyin' it all. Davey was there, and Goss was there. We all talked and laughed together. It was real, I tell you, Bill. It wasn't a dream, 'cause my eyes was wide open. That sort of thing scares me. I don't understand it."

Paisley put his hand on Boy's knee. "I know what's doin' it all," he said. "I know just what's doin' it all. You're worryin'. That's what you're doin'. You shouldn't, 'cause Hallibut and his gang ain't goin' to get this bush, not by a danged sight. You're thinkin' that you won't fish no more like you used to; that you and Davey won't tramp together no more in your own little world. But you will. You'll always own it, Boy. You take old Bill's word for it, you ain't got nothin' to worry yourself sick about." "Somehow I feel sort of helpless," sighed Boy. "Maybe I'm a coward, 'cause I feel like hidin'; not the fight in me makes me keep to the open. You've seen a young partridge when you walked upon him unexpected-like. The little fellow just grabs a leaf and turns over on his back, holdin' the leaf over him. You and me know where he is, because we see that leaf movin' after a time; but nobody who ain't a Bushwhacker could find him Bill."

"And like him, you naturally want to lay low, eh, Boy?" "Yes, as though I want to cover up; not because I'm scared, but 'cause I seems the natural thing to do. Then I get over that feelin', and the next thing I know I'm carryin' my rifle at full cock and keepin' a lookout. I don't know how this is goin' to end, Bill. I sure don't."

Paisley stood up. "Boy," he said earnestly, "you'd best be careful what you do. Don't you fire first. I ain't advisin' you to leave your rifle on the rack, but you know that us Bushwhackers don't shoot to scare. Ammunition's too scarce for that. If you was to kill one of Hallibut's gang now, it would make things bad for us all. 'The traps ain't set and the rats have left their houses,' said Boy drearily. "All along the creek are dead runs, and there's no use trappin' there. The dogs have left our shores and they've gone to the Point grounds. There's nothin' here, Bill, but the clack and buzz and whistle of that mill. The turkeys don't come on the ridges like they used to; the deer stay back in the swamplands; and all through this woods them sounds are chasin' the fur and game further back. And now he's goin' to send his schooner in here. Think of it, Bill. He's goin' to sail across the bay and up Lee Creek for his lumber. 'Old Noah was here this mornin' and he told me. He's goin' to work for Hallibut, too, and I can't understand that."

"What's the old Injin goin' to do?" grinned Paisley. "He can't work—he's too old." "He's goin' to watch the boat. It looks as if Hallibut's afraid we'll burn her. He don't know why he should think that, but Noah says it's better for him to be on the boat than anybody else. And he's right. He didn't tell me much—just know that a silent old feller he is. But I know he's been over to see Hallibut. Noah isn't against us; he thinks too much for him for that, but there's something 'he knows that we don't know. I see him watchin' Goss a lot. I'd give a good deal to know just what's in his mind, Bill."

"Wha, there's nothin' in his mind," Hallibut said. "Old Injin, do you want a job standin' watch on my boat when I send her down among the Bushwhackers and Noah he says 'Much good.' Noah knows that he can watch Hallibut that way better than we can watch him. Of course, I don't mean to say Noah would be a traitor to any man he worked for—both know he wouldn't. But he's there to watch things for us as well as Hallibut, Boy."

"Colonel Hallibut's comin' for more than his own," said Boy gloomily. Paisley stretched his long arms. "Well," he laughed, "I've picked peases when bees have been workin' among 'em. They didn't molest me any—not then. Once, though, I dusted a little chap with flour and trailed him down to his tree. I was hungry for honey, and wanted to hog it. When I started to cut down that beech tree I found Mr. Bee, who was quite a good feller among the posies, somethin' of a hell-trooper when it come to protectin' his own. It learned me a lesson. Now, when I hanker for honey, I get a piece of maple-sugar but from comin' up Lee Creek, but we can stop him from hoggin' our homesteads out of us; so we won't worry no more. Come on to bed, Boy. Mornin' will come right soon, and we've a lot of traps to set."

Boy picked up the candle and led the way to the loft. "My but it's a grand place to stretch yourself out and enjoy rest, this," said Paisley, stooping low to keep from bumping his head on the roof. "You should sleep like a baby up here, Boy. You sure should." "I used to," said Boy. "Maybe I'll be able to again. It's restful all right, Bill, to lie here and listen to the rain paterin' on the roof. And in the summer the leaves play little tunes on the thatches. Once Joe chased a wild-cat across the open and he tread up here. I tried to scare him away, but every time I struck the roof on the inside he would spit and snarl out there on the outside. I had to get up and shoot him at last." "Sure," said Bill dreamily. "He had stretched himself out on the willow bed, and already healthy sleep was wooing him and leading him from the lean day into strange by-paths of dreams which he never remembered."

CHAPTER XVI.

Preparing For The Loggin'.

Next morning at break of day Paisley and Boy, laden with rat-traps, struck out toward the creek. Big McTavish accompanied them as far as the stable and gave them a parting send-off.

"If I had the chores done I'd go along and show you fellows how a real trapper sets a trap," he said pantheringly, "but I hear old Buck and Bright askin' for their breakfast, so I can't go. I want that pair of oxen to be the best at Declute's loggin'. They have a reputation to keep up." "Don't think you can drive oxen any better than you can set rat-traps," returned Paisley. Taken at night they restore normal conditions while you sleep, morning finds you fresh and hungry, headache all gone, cheeks rosy, eyes bright, spirit good.

Impossible to feel dizzy, to have weak back, to be nervous, depressed, sleepless, or out of sorts if you tone, regulate and cleanse the system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Good for nervous women and children. Sold everywhere in 25c boxes.

do your best. If you don't, Brightly, I won't feed you any corn for a whole day."

He filled the mangers with fragrant fodder and passed outside. The glorious morning was shooting up above the fringe of Point Aux Pins. From the pine woods a billion dull-red arrows of light were glancing, and, striking the bosom of Rond Eau, darting upward again toward a sullen arch of cloud where they clung and mingling with it painted a glorious border of orange and crimson. A rooster, high on a stack of cornstalks, flapped his wings and proclaimed his gladness. Down in the second growth berceles a brood of feeding quail were whistling, and out above the creek a blue kingfisher stood poised, then dived, a streak of turquoise on the air, for the fish his bright eyes had sighted.

McTavish looked about him, smiling and whispering to himself. At the dog-woman he paused and accosted the setter.

"So you're tied up, eh? Wanted to follow the boys, did you, Joe? Well, we'll let you free now to go where you please."

Manitoba's Wheat Yield

Average Yield Per Acre For 1920 Given As Fifteen Bushels.

The average yield of wheat per acre in Manitoba for 1920 was 15 bushels, according to the final report of the department of agriculture for the year. Threshing is completed with the exception of a few fields of flax, according to the report. Much fall plowing has been completed and the land is in fine shape for next spring's work. The supply of winter feed will meet all requirements.

Following is a summary of conditions, as issued by George C. Batho, of the Manitoba Department of Agriculture: "Threshing is practically all finished in Manitoba, although a few scattered lots of flax are yet unthreshed. Now that threshing is done, reports of correspondents as to yields should be fairly accurate. The averages of all reports submitted are as follows: Wheat just below 15 bushels; oats, 33 5-6; barley, 22 1-10; flax, 8 2-5; rye, 16 1-5; potatoes just over 100. The potato crop is all dug.

"October has been a very fine month, and, on the whole, the conditions for plowing have been excellent, and a larger area—in some places a much larger area—than usual is plowed. Several correspondents report that summerfallowers are particularly satisfactory.

New Head to Research Council.

It is stated that President MacKenzie, of Dalhousie University, Nova Scotia, is the choice of the Dominion Research Council for the position of head of that body, left vacant by the resignation of Dr. MacCallum, who goes to McGill. If President MacKenzie will accept the position, it is stated, he can have it. It is understood that Prof. McLennan, of Toronto, whose name has been prominently in connection with it, would not have accepted.

The difference between a country youth and a city youth is that the former wants to know everything and the latter thinks he knows it all.

From the Diary of A Hudson's Bay Clerk in the Seventies

By O-GE-MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

After a hard winter at Sturgeon River, an outpost from Cumberland House, I at last shipped the winter's fur by York Boat to headquarters; and now for my holiday as I had planned, a hunting trip up the Sturgeon. The party was to consist of an Indian and his family in one large bark canoe and myself in a small bark just large enough for one man and his outfit.

At last we were off, and I looked back at the log shacks we had wintered in, with delight at the thought of never seeing them again; for, gentle reader, it had been a hard winter, the chief diet being fish both for men and dogs. We tracked or killed no venison. One amusing incident helped to break the monotony. About the month of February, if my memory is correct, a dog-train with two weather beaten travellers arrived. One of these (Owen B. Hughes) was the first Sheriff of Prince Albert in later days and his companion, a native named Kennedy. At that time Mr. Hughes was in the employ of Stobart, Eden & Co., fur traders, and was travelling from Norway House to Duck Lake. Their snowshoes were worn out and needed re-netting, so the men's wives were set to work at this and Mr. Hughes became my guest.

That first evening we had suckers, dried and smoked, nothing else but black tea with plenty of sugar, and I am sure he polished off at least half a dozen. For breakfast, appeared a fine dish of plain boiled suckers, taken out of the nets that morning, for we kept five nets under the ice all winter, catching, however, nothing but large red suckers, until spring when sturgeon came in shoals. I could see Hughes casting hungry glances round the table, but he was too well-bred a man to say anything. For dinner a huge platter (of the old China Willow pattern) with at least twenty sucker heads on it, these, by the way, being much the best part of that fish. Hughes glared at me, shoved his chair back, used some strong western epithets as to the way the Hon. Co. fed their clerks, then yelled, "John!" in stentorian tones. John duly appeared. Go to our sleigh and bring such and such articles of food. My, but we did feast, and then I explained the situation. Flour being short that winter, I was limited to a clerk's allowance of two hundred pounds. This I would not eat alone, so just used bread on Sundays, my two men and their families sharing it with me. In after years, meeting Hughes in Prince Albert, we had many a good laugh over this experience.

Our commissariat for the trip was very limited; a small stock of maple syrup which we had obtained by tapping the ash-maple trees in the vicinity, a bale of dried fish, four pounds of tea, a little salt and sugar, with a few pounds of flour for making soup. But our hearts were high and full of hope over the prospect of game, beaver especially, for no one had been up the river for years.

We camped the first night about ten miles out, having started late in the day. Fine paddling, smooth stretches of water with scarcely any current, then a small rapid, generally shoal, up which my small canoe would shoot like a jackfish, while Patrick often had to wade and lighten his heavily laden craft. Fish soup with a little syrup for supper, and then to bed with a determination to kill something edible next day.

We were up again at 2.30 and called all hands; a hasty snack and by noon we had made twenty miles. Here we were lucky in capturing a large sturgeon who was trying to ascend a very shallow rapid. Pushing my canoe ashore I threw myself on the fish and after an exciting struggle, landed him. Results—boiled sturgeon, very good for dinner. Another long hard paddle and we camped at a rapid where bears had been fishing with much success, judging by the remains laying scattered about. The next day, about 4 p.m., we passed the mouth of three small creeks and here Patrick found beaver signs and our mouths watered at the prospect of fresh meat. Going about a mile up the main river we pitched our tepee among some large birch trees, there being no under-bush. This was a beautiful camping ground.

After helping to set the tent we returned to the little creeks to watch for beaver, both going in the large canoe; and watch we did until too dark to see to shoot. Having no luck we made for camp. A wireless system had been arranged between us—when game was sighted the gunwale of the canoe was shaken. Presently I felt the canoe shiver, and on looking closely at the bank which here somewhat overhung the water, I could see the dim outline of an animal, so quickly fired. An amazing splash followed and we were deluged with water. Hauling the bag on board, it turned out to be a large black timber wolf, valuable for his pelt, but alas, not edible.

We here crossed the river and this time it was my occasion to give the signal, as being in the bow gave me a better lookout. This time a strong wake was visible going ahead of us, and I at once fired where I guessed the head was. A tremendous splashing followed and under the impression I had killed a beaver (who will never bite unless you put your hand in his mouth), I grabbed the soft fur and with some effort threw it into the canoe behind me. And then arose a battle din, for behold, it was a large buck utter. It was only stunned by the bullet which glanced on his skull, and it immediately attacked Patrick, who was in the stern. It was too close for him to shoot it, and then he might have got me. After a combat lasting some minutes, he managed to stun it with a large maul that we fortunately had in the canoe for landing sturgeon. Pat was very mad and abused me in his best Cree, and it took us some time to soothe his injured feelings. Finally, on reaching camp, we all had a hearty laugh over it. But the good wife was by no means pleased, as hearing the two shots she had vision of a nice beaver supper and here was only a wolf, which was bad eating, and other which was worse. Fortunately she or Job (the son) had snared a partridge and a rabbit, and on these we fared frugally and then to bed with a deep vow that we would have something better on the morrow.

Proposed Visit of Lloyd George.

The Canadian Press is informed that while the premier would certainly appreciate an opportunity of making the visit it was obviously impossible in the present state of affairs to make a definite arrangement or promise for the future.

Republican Victory in U.S.

Senator Harding Elected President of Republic by Sweeping Majority.

New York.—One of the most sweeping Republican victories in history stands recorded for Senator Warren G. Harding, for president, and for a Republican Congress.

Defeat in their fight both for the presidency and Congress was conceded early by Democratic national leaders on the basis of the increasing Republican vote. With the presidency and congress went loss to the Democrats of governors, state legislators, and other state and local candidates. The break even threatened the border states hitherto "solid south," with Republican gains in some southern states larger than any since the civil war.

Senator Harding's victory over Democratic leaders, which many Republicans hailed as the "solemn referendum" upon the League of Nations, was impressive. The results presage a larger majority in the electoral college for Senator Harding and his running mate, Governor Coolidge, of Massachusetts, than any since 1888, except alone the vote of 435 for President Wilson in 1912 during the Republican "split."

The Republican congressional swing was as strong, increased majorities in both Senate and House being marked up.

The first trial of woman suffrage contributed largely to the Republican majorities and also was a factor in delaying the count in many states. The millions of women's ballots also swelled the popular vote recorded beyond all records.

Senator Harding accepted his victory without exultation, stating that he was "more given to prayer to God to make me capable of playing my part."

To Governor Coolidge, the next vice-president, he sent a message stating: "We've got a real job and we'll tackle it together."

Elaborate Preparations Being Made For Taking of Decennial Census

Will Embrace All The Old and Several New Features.

Ottawa.—The decennial census which will be enumerated in Canada on June 1 next, will embrace all the old features and several new ones. Included in the latter will be a record of all animals in cities and towns, as well as in the country, a report of market gardens, poultry and apiaries, and generally the capacity of urban centres in producing foodstuffs. Every farm in the country will be the subject of an individual report, setting forth the ownership, tenure, acreage, crop value and livestock. Heretofore, these returns were extended over four schedules.

In co-operation with the Provincial Governments, statistics are now being collected in regard to manufactures, mines, forests, and fisheries, and these will not be a feature of the next census. Births, marriages and deaths will also be eliminated because the statistics are now available annually. Particular precautions are to be provided against duplication or missing of names.

In the enumeration of the census two hundred and thirty commissioners and eleven thousand enumerators will be employed. Urban enumerators will each secure from one thousand to twelve hundred names, while those in the rural parts will be expected to turn in from six hundred to a thousand names with all particulars asked by the department. In the northern part of the western provinces, the Mounted Police will help out as formerly, while in the extreme north of Ontario and Quebec, the church missionaries and Hudson Bay factors will be utilized for the work. About two weeks will suffice for the enumeration, except in the remote and scattered constituencies.

Compliment to Canada

Empire Press Union Speaks Highly of the Dominion.

London.—Much that was complimentary of Canada's hospitality was said at a luncheon by the Empire Press Union to Lord Burnham, president Imperial Press conference, which toured Canada recently.

Lord Burnham also said that Canada wanted British news in Canadian papers from the British viewpoint, and that the British wanted almost as much Canadian news in the British press from the Canadian viewpoint.

Vancouver Cuts Prices.

Vancouver.—A 20 per cent reduction in its prices in about two weeks time is announced by one of the leading local restaurants. The cut is made possible by the reduction in prices of raw materials. Lately there has been noticed a slight decrease in the cost of certain foods.

One Great Essential To a Woman's Health Is Her Nerves.

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy as the day is long, instead of being sick and wretched. But how can any woman be healthy and happy when the whole nervous system is unstrung. The trouble is they pay more attention to their social and household duties than they do to their health. Is it any wonder then that they become irritable and nervous, have hot flushes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells, become weak and nervous, and everything in life becomes dark and gloomy.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are the very remedy that nervous, tired-out, weary women need to restore them to the blessings of good health. Mrs. P. H. Ryan, Sand Point, N.S., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from nerve troubles. I was so weak and nervous I could not sleep at night and my appetite was very poor. I could not walk across the floor without trembling. I had hot flushes and fainting spells. When I was on my second box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I began to feel better and kept on until I had used six boxes, when I felt like a different person. I am never without them in the house and recommend them to all who suffer with their nerves."

When The Day Is Over

When the household cares and the worries of everyday life have dragged you down, made you unhappy, and there is nothing in life but headache, backache and worry, turn to the right prescription. One gotten up by Dr. Pierce fifty years ago.

Everything growing out of the ground seems intended for some use in establishing natural conditions. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., long since found out what is naturally best for women's diseases. He learned it all through treating thousands of cases. The result of his studies was a medicine called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This medicine is made of vegetable growths that nature surely intended for backache, headache, weakening pains, irregularities, and for the many disorders common to women in all ages of life.

Orillia, Ont.—"I suffered from a bad case of woman's trouble with backache, nervousness, disordered digestion, irregularity and I had great pain all the time, sometimes I would faint at my work. I had one physician after another but they did me no good. I then took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it fixed me up all right, I look much better and feel fine. I will recommend the 'Prescription' to all suffering as I did."—MRS. MAYBELLE B. GRATZ, 115 Albert St.

Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for confidential advice and you will receive the medical attention of a specialist, wholly without fee—no charge whatever.

Winter Holiday Resort

A Delightful Trip Through The Canadian Rockies to the Pacific Coast.

Shortly after leaving Calgary the route of the Canadian Pacific Railway winds for some distance through the foothills before plunging into the fastness of the mighty Rockies. Then for over five hundred miles a continuous panorama of bewildering magnificence is presented, which no pen can adequately describe. Wondrous glacial fields, startling precipices, snow-capped peaks, wide forest areas, clear lakes and peaceful valleys combine in an enchanting array. Add to this the 165 miles steamer trip on the palatial Princess Steamers from Vancouver to Victoria and Seattle on Puget Sound, the most charming inland voyage known, and you have a pretty fair idea of what the Canadian Pacific has to offer the traveller to the Pacific Coast.

Vancouver Island is recognized as Canada's all-year resort, where golf, motoring and other outdoor pastimes may be enjoyed every day in the year. Thousands of miles of magnificent motor roads radiate from Victoria to various points of interest.

A visit to the coast that does not include a few days at Victoria cannot be justified. It is rather a pity to spend the time "doing" cities that are in most of their essential features very much alike, if it means eliminating Victoria, when by a four-hour sail by steamer on one of the most beautiful stretches of inland waters in the world, your trip may take on all the characteristics of a foreign tour.

A trip to the Pacific Coast this winter will be time and money well spent. Any Canadian Pacific Agent will gladly furnish particulars and information which may be required.

Old Roman Roads

Formed the Backbone of the Transportation System of the Ancient Empire.

Some of the roads built by the Romans 2,000 years ago are still in active use. These roads have lasted through the centuries simply because of their massive construction.

An earth subgrade, carefully prepared and drained, was the foundation for four layers of materials, each so carefully laid that it contributed greatly to the long life of the road.

First came the statumen, on foundation, then the rudus, next the nucleus, and finally the pavement or wearing surface. The statumen and pavement consisted of large flat stones, while the two intervening courses were built of smaller stones laid in lime mortar.

For the chariot and pack-horse traffic of Roman times, such roads seem ridiculously heavy, but the wisdom of the builders was amply demonstrated by the 800 years during which the Roman road system formed the backbone of the transportation system of the ancient empire.

Horseback Riding

A Saddle Horse For Every Family Is Advocated.

Horseback riding is a more general sport now than it has been for many years past—since the days when the saddle horse was used of necessity. Now he's used for exercise and diversion. There are more privately owned saddle horses and many more horses kept for hire today, than before the advent of the motor car.

The Horse Association of America shows proof that good riders need not be born horsemen, but can be made under the schooling of experienced riders and the horse itself. The association urges saddle horses and ponies for children especially. Boarding stables and riding academies have reduced their prices this fall, following the drop in cost of oats and hay.

Hamilton Bassett, the Billy Sunday of the west, says it means less work for the undertakers. "A child that is brought up with a horse or pony for a companion, is a child that is early taught self-control and poise, not by precept and principle but by experience," he says. "If there were a pony in every home, there would be less erratic children and less work for the juvenile courts, less drugs, less work for the undertakers."

RICH, RED BLOOD NECESSARY TO HEALTH

When the Blood Becomes Weak and Watery a Tonic is Needed to Build it Anew.

Why are we being continually told that good, health-giving blood must be bright red? What has color to do with the quality? Just this—the oxygen in the air is the great supporter of all organic life. The function of the blood is to take the oxygen from the air—which it meets in the lungs and deliver it to the tissues of the body. When the blood, filled with life-sustaining oxygen, is sent out by the heart, it is bright red. When it returns, impure and deprived of oxygen, it is dark.

You will see, therefore, that there are two prime requisites of health, pure air and bright red blood—the pure air to furnish the oxygen, the rich red blood to carry it where it is wanted. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make your blood rich and red because they increase its power to carry oxygen, actually making it so much more able to carry increased life and strength to every organ in the body.

Pale anemic people whose nerves are on edge, whose cheeks are pale, and who tire out easily, should try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and note the steady improvement that follows their use. A case in point is that of Mrs. J. P. Rolap, South River, Ont., who says:—"About two years ago my system was in a badly run down condition; and I kept growing worse all the time until I could hardly do my housework."

A Born Politician.

Little Joey Jesso was entertaining his sister's nervous admirer, and after making the usual juvenile remarks on marbles and tops, he announced "Ethel told me yesterday you was a born politician." The young man was delighted, and wishing to know more, added: "That so? Why does she think that?" "That's just what ma wanted to know, and Ethel said it's because you can do so much talking without committin' yourself."

A whale is able to remain under water for an hour and a half without coming up for air.

1000 Eggs in Every Hen

New System of Poultry Keeping—Get Dollar a Dozen Eggs—Famous Poultryman.

TELLS HOW

"The great trouble with the poultry business has always been that the laying life of a hen was too short," says Henry Trafford, International Poultry-Expert and Breeder, for nearly eighteen years, Editor of Poultry Magazine.

The average pullet lays 150 eggs. If kept the second year, she may lay 100 more. Then she goes to market. Yet, it has been scientifically established that every pullet is born or hatched with over one thousand minute egg germs in her system—and will lay them on a highly profitable basis over a period of four to six years' time if given proper care.

How to work to get 1,000 eggs from every hen; how to get pullets laying early; how to make the old hens lay like pullets; how to keep up heavy egg production all through cold winter months when eggs are highest; triple egg production; the slacker hens; $500 profit from every hen in the winter months. These and many other money-making poultry secrets are contained in Mr. Trafford's "1,000 EGG HEN" system of poultry raising, one copy of which will be sent absolutely free to any reader of this paper who keeps six hens or more. Eggs should go up a dollar or more this winter. This means big profit to the poultry keeper who gets the eggs. Mr. Trafford tells how. If you keep chickens and want them to make money for you, cut out this ad and send it to your name and address to Henry Trafford, Suite 264P, Tyne Bldg., Birmingham, N. Y., and a free copy of "1,000 EGG HEN" will be sent by return mail.

The Red Cross Society Appeals for Funds

The campaign to be launched by the Alberta Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society on Armistice Day, November 11th, will be the first appeal for support made to the people of this province since the signing of armistice two years ago. Since that date the Red Cross has been reorganized for Peace work, and in Alberta has greatly extended its activities. It has brought nursing and hospital services to the outlying portions of Alberta, has in a score of ways assisted returned soldiers and their families in sickness and distress, has taken over children's homes at Calgary and Edmonton, has given supplies and equipment to eight rural hospitals, has equipped a recreation hut at Strathcona Hospital, Edmonton, has issued supplies to military and S. C. R. Hospitals, has organized about forty Junior Branches with a membership which now approaches one thousand and has carried on many other activities of a beneficent character. It was through the Red Cross that 1007 families in the drought stricken areas of Alberta received articles of clothing in the winter of 1919-1920 valued at more than $30,000 and nearly 10,000 second-hand garments donated by the Society.

The Alberta Division is now temporarily hampered by lack of funds. It is appealing to the people of Alberta to subscribe $100,000 for the continuance of its work in this province, and at the same time seeks to raise funds for European relief.
